. Unwritten History of the Cables

MAJ, GEN. JOHN W. GEARY For Representative in Congress, ITON. DARWING AND FINNEY.

THE CAME SUGGESTED.

The success of this time did not equal the interpations of the new company. It seemed likely to be a failure. The bouts had agreed to stop at the integration stations to and hom Europe. They did so for a time. But the log made the stopping at times dangerous, and ships refused to call, and so business, seemed to take its flight from the fine. Soon Mr. Field met the company with a new suggestion—why not lay a cable neros: the Allantic, and so be independent of steamships, and steam companies? Mr. Field was full of it then, as he has been ever since, it won over his little company. He obtained subscriptions to stock. He crossed the water on the one great mission that now filled aff his soul, and to which he has ever since devoted his life.

Mr. Field begon the work of raising money in the President about the man of any like performed being defined and you have been made as possibly, might have preemed it. The effect upon the monds of New Orleans was the worst. It gave the morassion that no man-regular be so had as to be out of the pale of Presidential mergy. Thaggery resumed its saws, and Mayor Monroe, surrounded himself at once with a police force composed of that governing class who had been summnify dispersed when tien. Butter came, that Sheridan been in the city at the time of the five, Mayor Monroe would have been arrosted and the bloodshed avoided. The evolus four the South of Union and Norther a families in anticipation of smallar scenes elsewhere is affecting businesses.

HOW PHOORESS WAS WADE.

Mr. Field begon the work of raising money in London. He had to, stretch out his hands and lift up his voice to a gainsning people. He put a coil of ocean cable about his neck and went from braker to banker, hom expitalist to capitalist, working day by, day, never dishertened by refusals. Persecuted or repulsed hone place, he went to another. He gained his point day by day, till the first cable was sent down to its ocean bed.

This new to neck was onen in the mind of Mr.

Taylor to serious objections, and, so far as he was concerned, was abandoned. Som after Mr Fleid called again; he had now a project, he said that was not open to the objectious stated by Mr Taylor, and to which Mr. Fleid asked attention It was to purchase the telegraph lines in the Provinces, and connect them, with the United It was to pinchase the telegraph lines in the Provinces, and connect them with the United States. The company held a valuable charter from the New Brunswick parhament. It was mable to carry on business, and the whole franchise could be purchased at a small cost, and, whom put in complete repair, would prove a valuable investment. The charter was examined and found not to be sitisfactory. But it was said if the charter could be changed and amended, and the lines put at a low price, the purchase would be made. Mr. Fixid agreed to visit New Brunswick, and obtain the changes needed in the charter, and to do this it paid $1,000 and his expenses. The desired alterations were made. Moses Taylor, Peter Cooper, Marshall O. Roberts, Wilson G. Hunt, and C. W. Field, put in the sum of $10,000 cach, and became the company.

MR FIELD ARROAD.

England was more obdurate than America.—
No man winted to see the face of Mr. Field, and he was made to know the fact. Doors were closed against him. Millionaires would not her binn talk. Some thought his tongue like that of a charmer, and fled from his approach. He was regarded as an enthusiast minely. But steadily Mr. Field proceeded. He want where he was not wanted. He came at odd times and at odd places—in the counting-hondes millut the country set; in the cly home and hit the marr of trade-lite glined his point. Some were convinced the glined his point. Some were convinced to give milling to throw away a small sumble cause they liked the perastency of the main; a flow had their wanting faith revived, and fills the old hunter Henry Clay told of, were willing to plek thin and try night. But Mr. Field cared not for the motive so long as he had tauds and the two continents were united.

CYRUS W. FIELD AND THE ATLANTIC CABLE PRELIMINARIES OF THE CABLE. There is an invertice history of the connection of MarField with the Atlantic Cable that may have a peculiar interest at this time. Mr. Fleid desired to change his hashness, and hooked around for some sphere for his peculiar interest. His called one day on Moses Thjor, one of our wealthy and public spirited men, and proposed to open a new line of rathoad across the 1sthemus, and so create a new line to California.

17 The first fitting was repaired, and the second could took the place of the last one. Weary and wid, but with atrong labth in the ultimate success of the work, Mr. Field, came home after the failure of the second attempt to by the cable. Few spoke words of other or hope. The little company by had raised the bilant sum $10,000 up to among the fiftigs and hundreds of thousands, and no long the fiftigs and hundreds of thousands, and no long the fiftigs and hundreds of thousands, and no long as impresented, and wanted to hear more about the cable. But Mr. Field tood the gentlement but he would not be given in most of the last of the world remew the arm input of it was a success. Like Peter the Hermit he hear in the new creation, it and from poly, purity from the new creation, it and from poly, purity from the over creation in the first attempt. Correspondence of the N.Y. Washington, Angust 7, 1866.
A graticinian, arrived to night from New Orleans, represents that Mr. Fostic, after he washot and unconscious, was teribly muthined and not recognizable that fox. Hom stated that, while being hailled to the prison, he was readed brainly by the diversal die crowd that followed. At the Station House sixty men were crowded into a cell that was intended for after Off the number brought in all were badly beaten or stabbed. He estimates that there were nearly 10,000 loyal Radicals in Louisiana, perhaps bedf of them desming it inexpedient for the Convention to meet. John T. From the N.O Tames, August 2.

At the present writing we are urrible to gain butther particulars of the wounded. Their removal beyond the prosidential of the police to their private residences renders particulars of their wounds difficult to attain.

The Marine Hospital force have at present all they can will do to provide for the wants and satisfy the requirements of those who have been wounded at the late nots. The surge on in charge is 0. H. Harris, who has been in custody of the building for the past three weeks. The Rev. Mr. Horton is lying in a wird in the west wing. The principal, the dangefous wound, is a severe consistion of the head, which caused coma to supercone and rendered the operation of trephining necessary. The operation was performed by Surgeon Avery, and on removal of the piece of skull with the instrument, a cloud of biolod was found pressing on the bodin. The patient is now in a very low state, containes, unconscious, and he prospecies of a recovery auchad. Mr. Horton received the contation in the head from a blade automatical the residence of the subtemporary. instrument. He was also wounded in the side and shot in the hand.
Laying on teels in the several large and any words of the hospital are near 150 negroes—victims of the late root. They are wounded in every integrable way. One has a leg broken by the net of falling from the second story in efforts to essape. Muestenths of the patients have at least one womed from a budlet. A great number are stabled. A number are stathed. A number are suffering from contained wounds, indicated by some blunt instrument. In the great majority of cases the wounded testify to the action of the police, saying it was their disposition to protect thou, but the white elizens, in many instances, weested the black presoner from the grasp of the officers. Some who escaped by the tern were beaten down as they

from the grasp of the officers. Some who secaped by the ten were beaten down as they appeared on Buronne street Same were wounded by shots through the windows, others by shots after the enthance of the police. The greater number evidently were very much tertified while in the building, as they do not testify accurately to what occurred, their acount varying in many instances. The floors of the half were form up, we execution, by the crowd who sought to protect themselves from the outside fire. Of the wild excellence that prevailed on the part of those cutizens who had arms in their hands, many of the wounded testify. But we refet these matters to the Commission for investigation. Let them take measures that no important witness by absent. The long policemen who were wounded are testimony of sooms shap firing on behalf of the contents of the Institute building. It is our regiet, it is the regret of the public, that such disasters have occurred. The other Johnson...The Philadelphia Collectorship.

The Philadelphia Prev of Sunday says: The following letter from William F. Johnson, a respectable citizen of Philadelphia, addressed to the President of the United States, explains itself. It will be seen that Mr. Johnson acknowledges a communication from the United States Commissioner of Customs, stating that the President had appointed him to the office of Collector of the Castoms for the district of Philadelphia, and encloding official bonds in blank to be filled up with the names of his survices. It will also be seen that he declines this honor in a letter as remarkable for its distincterestedness as for its patel-PRINCIPUM CRNTRE, August 9. A fire broke out this morning in the Petroleum Dinton Saloon, originating from time stored in the building. The house was unteranted, and in about three-quarters of an hour was reduced t ashes. It was through prompt action and great exertion that the Rochester and Keystone Houses were saved, the Keystone having caught fire by falling from the roof of the Keystone House while at work. Names not known.

Total loss about $3,500. Property owned by Milton Alcott, of Rochester, New York. N.

Frem Our Own Correspondent. PETROLEUM CENTRE, August 9, 1860. Our city was again visited by a terrible fire this morning at 1 o'clock, placing in imminent danger some of our best hotels and and offices. The fire was first seen to break through the build-ing known as the "Old Homestead," for meety or capled by Messrs. Kent and French, as a hotel. The origin of the fire is traced to the ignition of the lime, which had been stored in the building. The heavy rains of yesterday wetting the lime, und from that was instrumental in producing flame which caused the total destruction of the ouilding, and a few small buildings in the rear. Mesers, Markell and Crittenden occupied the upper floor of the building as an office and sheeping apartments. The office was one of the linest or he creek. The suffocating smoke prevented the saving of anything from their office, although reseated efforts to gain an entrance into the build ng by many who were desirons of saving the valuable property in the office, proved musueeessful, and the contents and building were totally consumed. The cry of fire, from the lips of the watchman, had a tendency to bring hundreds of men to the spot, who rendered such aid as was necessary.

It was found impossible to stay the progres

of the flames on the "Homestead," and altention was immediately turned upon other buildings attention first turned upon this building, m at almost the same time men were engaged in tearing down a shed in the rear of the "Wood bine," a new hotel recently litted up by Mr Charles W. Topliff. Through the united chorts of Mr. J. S. McCray and A. O. Farnham, in mgers of the Ruchester House, and Mr. Charles W. Topliff, of the Woodbine, the saving of the property in imminent danger, although no wholly due, but entitled to great praise; for we are not unmindful of the desperate efforts of the m my who clambered upon the 190% of the buildings phying water, when the heat was so intense as to drive them back almost every moment Never before did we see mon so inspired with a courage almost superhuman. Maniaby did they resist the devouring element, and render such assistance efficiting the praise of all our citizens Messrs, J. S. McCray and Charles W. Poplift de sites to tender to these men their sincere thanks for their efforts to save their buildings. The Rowe House barely escaped, the fence took fire but was soon extinquished. The Central Petro-leum office was also in great danger. Mr. Edward Fox soon placed that in a fice-proof

OIL IN THE ALLEGUENY .- A correspondent of the Pitt-burgh Commercial, writing from Frank

There is marked improvement in the feeling regard to oil matters in this vicinity. The There is marked improvement in the teeing in regard to oil matters in this vicinity. The wild and extravagant ideas of speculation have died one, and our citizens, instead of endeavoring to sell territory to strangers at fubilous piles, are going themselt as to here and develop either lands. Those who have held on to their oil during the past two mouths while prices have been so low, have done well, and will make good thing of it. Well No. 46, on the burnt district of the Holm-

A large amount of water was ejected, and a strong current of gas has since continued. The well will be retubed to-day. Mr. J. Wall Impey, of Enterprise, is agent for the sale of the torpedoes in that section. We learn that he has received several additional orders since the above experiment.

A New Oil Supply. A mineral, partaking somewhat of the nature of coal and bitumen, is found in several places. amongst others, in New Brunswick, in Wales, i Scotland and in Nevada. It is called "Cannellie, and recent discoveries show that it is solid petro lemm almost in a pure state. The best when distilled, will yield fully filty gallons of crude oil to the ton of 2,240 pounds, It gives up its volatile products with great facility, does not swell in the refort, and the process can be completed in about eight homs. It is found in different varieties, some of them leaving a residuum in the ves sel similar to lava; others whitish ash, which is very light but retains the form of the original ma-Brunswick is in beds of two to thirteen feet in thickness. Nearly 2,000 tops of this substance have been imported into Salem, Masschusetts for distillation, and gave on an average fifty gal-lons of oil per tun, only costing at the place of shipment 86 per ton, or 12% cents per gallon on the yield. This trade has been temporarily stopped by the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty with the British Provinces. The deposits airently known to exist in New Brunswick contain more than 20,000,000 tons or 1,000,000,000 gallons of crude off of the specific gravity of 2 degrees Beaume. In Wales, also, the business of annel distillation has made some progress; 500 retorts have already been erected, each of which gan distill 25,000 gallons a year.
